Jewell & Associates, a Deltek Premier Partner, Achieves 33% Staffing Growth in the First Quarter of 2008

Vienna, Virginia (PRWEB) April 4, 2008 - Jewell & Associates, a Deltek Premier Partner, has added 6 new staff since January which is a 33% employment increase to better service clients that use the Deltek Vision system. A majority of these additions are senior consultants that work with clients to implement, train and deploy the integrated solution. Additionally, other key hires allow Jewell & Associates to educate clients about the benefits of the Vision system and offer educational product webinars, luncheons and User's Groups for Deltek Vision clients.

Deltek Vision is a leading enterprise software solution designed for project based professional services firms to improve business performance, streamline operations, and win new business by integrating end-to-end business processes by automating the marketing, financial management, planning, tracking and administration of resources and projects.

Key consulting staff promotions and additions include Melissa Garner, promoted from Director of Consulting Services to Vice President of Consulting Services. Melissa will manage J&A's growing consulting team and expand the consulting services offered for the Vision system. Victor Marcelle, Senior Vision IT Consultant was hired to assist J&A to offer more technical services to their growing client base. He will assist clients with hardware configuration, software installation, data import, workflow design and configuration and custom reporting. Karla Simei, CPA was hired as a Senior Vision Consultant. Karla has an extensive background in system implementation and years of hands-on Vision experience.

Other key staff additions include Dana Johnston, MBA as Marketing Manager, Cindy Volkmann, MBA as Senior Sales Associate and Ginger Mahon as Events Coordinator.

Jewell & Associates not only sells Deltek Vision but uses the product internally and attributes their ability to grow this past year to effectively implementing its use. "As a firm principal, Vision allows me to track the effectiveness of my employees and assign activities to improve productivity and help us improve client satisfaction by making sure we are keeping our promises. A big part of our success this past year can be attributed to our use of the Vision system," said June Jewell. Businesses using Vision will find that they can track their projects, budgets and employee utilization very closely. Jewell & Associates consultants help clients revamp their business processes and use their Vision system to substantially increase their project profitability.

Industries affected by a tougher economy need to make sure they can better manage projects to achieve profitability. Using software that allows a company to closely monitor their projects helps them to sustain their business during increased competitive times. "Deltek Vision has had a huge impact on my business by saving me time, improving our invoicing accuracy and collections, and helping me stay on top of potential project cost overruns" said Jim Greenfield, President of Greenfield Architects, one of J&A's clients.
